

UNIVERSITY HOUSING & DINING

Residence Education

About REM

The REM is a planned, year-long approach to the residential experience, mapping out student experiences and learning opportunities connect to Academic Growth, Personal Development and Diveristy, Equity and Inclusion. Throughout the year, students can participate in programs and have various check-ins to measure what they are learning as a result of living in the residence halls.

In the fall of 2019, 6,322 students were invited to take the Residence Education Fall Feedback Survey, and there were 2,571 responses (40.7%). The survey broadly explored student experiences in the University of Iowa's residence halls.

Key Data Points

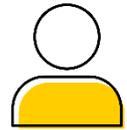

| STATEMENT | PERCENTAGE |
|---|------------|
| Learned about academic resources | 92.45% |
| Learned about wellness resources | 88.52% |
| Learned skills to futher personal success | 86.26% |
| Learned about involvement opportunities | 91.08% |
| Felt safe in their residence hall | 97.50% |
| Respected their RA | 94.68% |
| RA respected them as an individual | 98.05% |
| RA encouraged an inclusive community on their floor | 95.14% |

If you have any questions, contact VPSL at vp-student-life@uiowa.edu.

98%

FELT SAFE IN THEIR RESIDENCE HALL

98%

FELT THAT THEIR RA RESPECTED THEM AS AN INDIVIDUAL

95%

HAD AN RA THAT ENCOURAGED AN INCLUSIVE COMMUNITY

92%

LEARNED ABOUT ACADEMIC RESOURCES

Next Steps and Recommendations:

- Continue to explore and disaggregate additional data to understand student experiences in the residence hall.
- Identify and track ways REM contributes to the Division of Student Life strategic plan.